LIGHT AND BRIGHT

Capitalising on natural light is a must in your kitchen. Light will affect how you use the space, so keeping it in mind when you're in the design and planning phase is imperative. We love this room from Sydney Wide Kitchens. It's awash in natural light thanks to the floor-to-ceiling windows and doors that open to the garden. The kitchen is positioned to best capitalise on this, with the island a perfect workspace that still allows ample views of the yard for any child supervision. White cabinetry and a white subway-tiled splashback make the space feel light and bright. Strip LED lights underneath the overhead cabinets ensure that any prep work is a breeze. The feature glass cabinetry on either side of the rangehood draws the eye and adds a classic touch to the room. This is further echoed in the complex detailing on the island, including the exposed kickboard. Designer Sydney Wide Kitchens

Positioning your kitchen so it overlooks the yard allows for multi-tasking, as well as easy access when you need to stop all that outdoor play for a quick drink.
